

PMI® Global Congress NORTH AMERICA 2010

Knowledge and networking event for professionals involved in projects

PMI Global Congress 2010—North America is a three-day professional development event, hosted by Project Management Institute (PMI). It provides an opportunity for professionals across all industries to exchange ideas on today's project challenges and emerging trends. There is no better way for professionals involved in projects to keep skills sharp and gain knowledge that they can apply directly to improve project results.

Value that Congress provides to your employees

- Gaining practical knowledge and sound ideas

It's not just about getting education, it's about getting the right education. The Congress offers over 150 educational sessions delivered by experienced presenters that allow attendees to select a variety of topics each day that suit their interest and career needs. With limited budgets for professional development, it is crucial that your employees get the most out of their experience. The Congress offers tools, techniques, and practical knowledge that they can put to work immediately.

- Building a professional network

Attendees can engage with peers and thought leaders to gain insights, and learn about services and solutions from suppliers

- Fulfilling Continuing Educational Requirements

Participation in Congress educational sessions allows PMI credential holders the opportunity to stay sharp with current project management knowledge, while earning Professional Development Units (PDUs) necessary to maintain their credential.

- What value will Congress bring to your organization?

Top executives report that project management is becoming increasingly important to their companies, and that project managers can improve business performance in any industry. Attendees will take home the new ideas and insights that will allow them to introduce change and innovation to your organization and deliver outstanding results.

Congress offers knowledge, exchange of ideas, training and exposure to the most current resources for project management, which can have an immediate impact on the success of your projects. Invest in your employee's professional development at PMI Global Congress 2010—North America, and your organization will benefit as well.

Thank you for offering your employee the opportunity to attend PMI Global Congress 2010—North America.
